with Sally

● "Sammy, you did not wash behind your ears," we told our oldest firmly. "You'll have to start in all over again."

● "Gee whiz, Mom," muttered Sammy rebelliously, starting back up the stairs, "just because you found all those soap bargains at Lucca Ravioli."

● Well, it is true that we did find some wonderful soap specials at Lucca's this week, but that was not the main reason we wanted Sammy to be on parade. We were just putting the finishing touches on the dinner party for John's birthday.

● When Sammy came back a moment later, we decided we would have to resort to bribery.

● "Listen, Sammy," we said, "if you'll wash them just once more, and do a really good job, you may have a couple of those chocolate cookies we just bought from Geneva Bakery."

● This time Sammy came down so pink and gleaming behind the ears that everyone would know we had used the most un-psychological methods. But as long as they couldn't prove it—

● But what a sight of ruin met our eye in the bathroom! Every little embroidered guest towel that we had hung up with such care was black as the ace of spades, wrinkled, crumpled, partly on the floor. Nothing short of the New Process Laundry would ever get those towels white again.

● We had time only to whisk them into the closet before dashing down to answer the telephone.

● "Oh, John, haven't you started home yet?" we inquired tragically, when we heard his voice.

● "Look, dear," said John. "I thought you might like to eat up-town at the Hilltop Lodge tonight. That new singer is really good."

● "Listen, John," we interrupted in a low, desperate voice. "Sammy's got the whooping cough. Sue Ann has double pneumonia. And the house is on fire. Now please come home."

● Then we slammed up the receiver and ran into the kitchen to rescue the cauliflower. The Daly

Scouting the Shops

City Cut Rate Market, now under new management, had some of the most luscious fruits and vegetables you ever saw. But just as we were giving a rapid swish to the peas, the doorbell rang.

● "Hmm," said our rich Aunt Hattie with a disapproving stare, as soon as she entered the door. "What's that radio doing here? Don't you have two in the house already?"

● "Oh, yes, but this one is a birthday present for John's workshop," we replied appeasingly. "We bought it from Byrne Radio store and it cost only $2.95."

● "Hmm-m," said Aunt Hattie. "Where is Uncle George?" we asked hastily, to change the subject.

● "Attack of indigestion," answered Aunt Hattie. "He'll be all right as soon as he takes a couple of doses of the prescription I had filled for him at Edwards Drug store."

● We suddenly remembered that Uncle George's absence would leave thirteen people to sit down at the table. But we had no time for panic, because the other guests were beginning to stream in; and Sammy had brought his chocolate cookies, together with a huge glass of milk from the Mission Creamery, into the middle of the living room and was calmly proceeding to eat them. Everyone was eyeing the proceedings very hungrily.

● And still John hadn't come. We managed to exile Sammy and we tried to start a pleasant conversation. But the guests all had the strained look of near-starvation and everyone was off on his pet topic.

● "Dorothy Lamour is playing at the Daly City theatre, tomorrow night," remarked Cousin Egbert, who is a bookkeeper, "and without a sarong."

● "Hmm. If you'd pay more attention to business and less to sarongs, young man, you'd get farther," remarked Aunt Hattie. "Why don't you look into some sensible investments? William Lagomarsino has opened a new place of business and is well-equipped to advise anyone on in-

Night Owls Plan Last Bug Contest

Tomorrow evening will see the last litterbug contest before the February 3 finals at Lovchen Gardens, Colma, according to the Night Owls club, who are sponsoring the series.

Walter Holquin, Palo Alto, and Aurelia Andre, San Francisco, were winners of the contest held January 6.

"There is still time to join our contest before the winners meet in the finals in February," Night Owls officials stated.

Record crowds have been reported at these contests and the finals are expected to draw the largest gallery ever seen at Lovchen Gardens.

The Night Owls are also planning a leap year dance soon, when the girls will have the privilege of asking for dances.

The Night Owls dance regularly the first and third Saturday evening of each month. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Whist Tonight For Local Church

SALLY'S COLUMN — SCOUTING THE SHOPS

- But Cousin Fred had just waked up. "Without a sarong?" he asked in a surprised and interested voice.
- Aunt Hattie was furious. But she would not be over-ridden.
- "And it's National Thrift Week, too," she said, her voice rising higher and higher. "The specials are on Page 6 of the Shopping News."
- "Oh, yes, I saw them in the Daly City Record," chimed in Mrs.

Serosimo. "Did you know that you get a $1.50 script book, absolutely free, of tickets to the Daly City theatre for a year's subscription to the Daly City Record? I was talking with a young man today and—"

● "Stop chattering!" Mr. Serosimo said in a savage whisper. "I'm hungry."

● Everyone pretended not to have heard him and started talking very fast about something else. But Mr. Serosimo wasn't the only one who could smell the leg of lamb sizzling in the oven. We had bought it from Farmers Meat company, and half an hour ago it had been the most beautiful leg of lamb you could imagine.

● Lost in our own gloomy thoughts of what it probably looked like by now, we failed to hear Sue Ann until she had called down the stairs the second time.

● "Mother," she insisted, "Aunt May says she can't find one single solitary towel in the bathroom anywhere."

● No one could pretend not to hear that. Everyone gave us indulgent little laughs and remarked how different Sally's parties were. We went with burning cheeks in search of a towel.

● By the time we found one, Aunt May's hands had dried long since of their own accord and were now waving in the living room, where Aunt May was telling everyone about the prizes that were going to be given away at the whist party Friday night for the benefit of Our Lady of Perpetual Help church. Then we heard the conversation turn to the Night Owls dance in Colma, Saturday.

● But our heart was not in our entertaining. As we laid out John's best suit, freshly-cleaned by Beeson Cleaners, we committed murder in our heart against husbands and guests and children all indiscriminately.

● Then we cast a last despairing look into the kitchen. Lovely, creamy, fragrant asparagus soup which we had planned for the first course and bought on special at Milo's was our first thought. Now, having boiled for some fifteen minutes (we had forgotten to turn the gas off in our excitement), it was asparagus but not soup. We hastily dashed around opening pea soup instead, thanking our lucky stars that we had stocked up.

● "Sally, I'm beginning to feel a little faint," said Aunt Hattie plaintively from the doorway. "Do you suppose I could have a soda cracker?"

● But we could see her eyeing the lovely golden maroon crunch cake we had bought from Waxman's Bakery. There was a covetous look in her eye.

● We gritted our teeth together and went on doggedly mixing up mayonnaise, with ranch-fresh eggs from Robertson's Egg store and salad oil from Westlake Market.

● "Sally—" repeated Aunt Hattie.

● We started beating the mayonnaise furiously—too furiously. For with a sudden deft twist, the jar wrenched itself out of our hands and the mayonnaise went streaming all down the front of our only evening dress.

● A sudden commotion at the front door made us all look up. And there at last was John! He had an armload of flowers from the Daly City Nursery and a happy grin.

● "Well, well, hello, everyone," he said genially. "Looks like a party. And have I been missing out on all the fun all this time, Sally?"

● We were too furious to attempt an answer. Even the guests responded only with the doleful looks of hungry dogs.

"Help Yourself Refreshments" are a neat trick for Informal Parties, says Dorothy Greig

Diced Ham in Chicken-Asparagus Sauce served over Steamed Rice and Egg Slices is good buffet party fare

THE "help yourself" idea of serving party refreshments spreads and spreads. Placing everything on one big table and inviting guests to serve themselves pleases everybody.

Men like it because it offers opportunity to show how gallant and useful they can be in waiting on ladies fair; and women enjoy it because it keeps the men in circulation. Need more be said?

Refreshments of this type also appear to be no trouble to the hostess and that is probably one secret of their charm. Of course, as every woman knows, any refreshments require planning. The work is greatly simplified, however, when simple hot dishes like this one are served. It consists of hot rice and hard cooked eggs with a diced ham in chicken-asparagus sauce to go over them. Set out the rice and eggs in one dish and the sauce in a big bowl next to it. Guests do their own dishing and serving.

Diced Ham in Chicken-Asparagus Sauce

The sauce:

1 can condensed asparagus soup
1 can condensed chicken soup
1/2 cup milk
1 cup ham, cut into 1/2 inch cubes
Mix the chicken soup into the asparagus soup. Then add the milk and diced ham. Heat, but do not boil.

The Rice & Eggs:

2 cups steamed hot rice
2-4 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
Put the rice in a serving dish and place the egg slices in the rice. Serve portion on plate and put the "Diced Ham in Chicken-Asparagus Sauce" over the rice. Serves 6-7.
Another good lunch is to have on the table a cold dish on the order of a fancy salad. The following is a highly decorative affair—

Large Hull Launched

The first large hull in 60 years was launched at Nova Scotia when a 45-foot dredge slid down the ways of a Pictou marine railway. The hull was built for the department of public works.

GEORGE AND MILLIE LEARN ABOUT LAUNDRY

(Editor's Note: Technical information for this series has been supplied by The New Process Laundry.)

Dear Folks:

There are times when I do wonder why I married that louse! (Incidentally, that's a picture of George above.) Only this morning I was ready to leave for Reno, no less. There I was trying to interest George in having our clothes sent to the laundry instead of my having to slave over a hot tub week after week... and does he even hear me? No. He is telling me about the chemical make-up of common table salt. So then I try passing him the fried potatoes to break up his monologue. But what? He merely says, "Ah, yes, the potato, one of the edible farinaceous tubers of a plant of the nightshade family."

"Listen, you big baboon," I said, pounding on the table, "I'm talking to you about LAUNDRY service. I want to send our clothes to the L-A-U-N-D-R-Y. Why, for less than the electricity and soaps cost at home, I can have my sheets and towels come back beautifully white, and already pressed! According to the ad I read in the Daly City Shopping News—"

"Laundry?" did you say, dear, "You'd be interested in the origin of that word—"

But that was the final blow. "I would not be!" I screamed. "What I'm interested in is some money to send out our dirty clothes."

Does that phase him? No. "You know," he continued, "The American steam laundry had its origin in Troy, New York, in connection with the large collar, cuff and shirt industry of that city."

"Hm," I sniffed. "I've got a large collar and cuff industry right here at home. Now, can I have that money?"

"Money?" he asked vaguely as he kissed me absent-mindedly and set off for the campus.

I was raving mad but, after all, I decided, poor George had a tough life and he is a good soul at heart. Besides, he probably didn't even hear me ask for money.

I even felt remorseful for being so cross and cooked a really elegant dinner. However, when George got home he ate stolidly through all of his favorite foods without so much as a comment. Was I mad! Finally, as he absent-mindedly doubled up his napkin and stuffed it into his pocket, he announced "You know, dear, you've given me the most wonderful idea! I've been undecided on what to write my thesis but now I have it."

Well, this was a compliment, I brightly thought—I gave him an idea for his paper! How wonderful!

"Yes," he continued, "I'm going to write it on the History of the Laundry. Of course, I'll need a lot of peace and quiet," he added firmly. "You'll have to take complete charge of the house and its problems."

I'll spare you what I said then, but, even so, George is going to write the paper. All the weeks that I'm going mad because I cannot send our clothes to the laundry he'll be giving me the highlights of his investigation.

Pardon me, but I have to dash—I hear George swearing in his best French because I've ripped all the buttons off his shirt again.

Love,

Your Harrassed Millie.

Windy Business

Looking up from being near his colony of overnight cabins at Manchester, Maine, H. S. Fearshay saw one of the small buildings tumbling haphazardly above the treetops, finally landing in a nearby field. A freak whirlwind had scooped up the cabin from a cluster of 12.

A Small, Small House For Beginners

This small, small house is not intended for a very big family. But it's a good starting point for a young couple. As the family arrives, extra rooms can be added in the back of the house.

It will fit comfortably on a forty foot lot, leaving space alongside for a garage driveway. In plan, it incorporates several very modern ideas that make for more comfortable, less expensive living.

Look at the kitchen, for example. It is only a half's breadth from both the front and service entries, meaning much less walking to answer the doorbell. And two corner windows—one in the kitchen and one in a bedroom—provide ample fresh air and double the view.

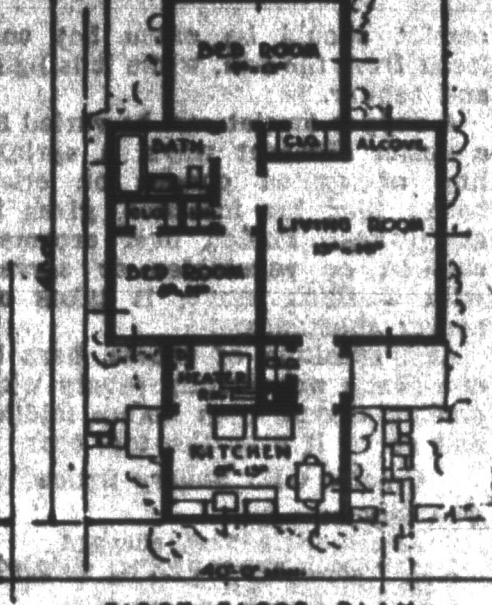

It has a heater room, which eliminates a costly basement, but if a cellar is preferred, the space now given over to a heater can be used for stairs and a small laundry.

Less expensive living is provided by full-thick insulated walls, which cut the fuel bill of this little house from 30 to 50 percent. All outside walls and the space between the ceiling joists are filled with 3½ inch thick mineral wool. Sealed vents under the eaves empty ventilate the attic.

The roof, low-pitched to make the house appear wider, is covered with fire-resistant, mineral-surfaced asphalt shingles.

Randolph Evans, who designed this house for the Monthly Small House Club of 227 East 45th Street, New York, has suggested the following color scheme for it: Red, blue-green asphalt shingles; walls, warm gray; windows, white; and front door, dark plum.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN:

Shipwrecks Missing

New Zealand has a shipwrecks society and no shipwrecks. It was disclosed by the Shipwrecks Relief society that money is accumulating in the bank for want of disaster. The society obtains its finances from the shipping companies and the harbor boards of this country, all of which make an annual contribution. Year by year the funds grow larger. Now they stand at $20,000 and are safely invested. This has resulted in the society now receiving more than it spends. The position is regarded with satisfaction by local governments. It seems Mayor Arthur H. Allen of Dunedin has said: "It is gratifying to know this money has been invested in gilt edged securities."

Not So Bad

The Melbourne, Australia, government is convinced that traffic and driving instructions offered in a humorous vein are more effective than the usual type. With every driving license now granted is provided a book entitled "Many Happy Returns," containing instructions like the following: "It isn't your fault if all the other road users are completely deaf, but it is your fault if you aren't prepared for them to be so."

Must Not Be Valuable

The thirty profiles must not be a living for nearly 100,000 persons connected directly or indirectly with Louisiana's fur industry.

Insurance Firm Opens New Offices

William Lagomarsino and company, insurance brokers, opened for business Monday morning in their new offices on the corner of Mission and Molke streets.

Owned jointly by William Lagomarsino and Ricco Lagomarsino, the building was designed by a well-known San Francisco architect and is of the most modern type. A large store and offices occupy the ground floor, and a five-, four- and three-room apartment are contained on the second floor.

Complete in every detail, the new structure was designed as a real asset to this community.

Ice Polo Proves Popular

Ice Polo, San Francisco's most popular indoor winter sport, has been extended to a second session each week at Winterland, Post and Steiner streets.

The fast and hilarious new game is now played during regular evening sessions on both Mondays and Fridays, it was announced this week by management of the big ice rink.

Two short periods constitute the time of the game. The play has much of the action and the thrill of ice hockey, but the "puck" is a soft rubber ball, which adds to the fun and does away with danger to the players. The latter are recruited among skating patrons of Winterland. Six people are on each team.

For a light supper serve OMELET suggests Dorothy Grogg

WHEN mother declared, "We're having omelet for supper tonight," that was firm notice that all hand washing must be done before supper call. No straggling was permitted. "This is one dish that simply won't wait for slow plates," she would say. And, of course, an omelet should be eaten hot and fresh from the pan, while it is light and tender.

A supper omelet can be varied in a dozen different ways. A sprinkling of grated cheese or crisp bacon bits, for instance, gives it sharp zest. Folded over creamed chicken or vegetables or served with a thick sauce, it takes on hearty substance.

And speaking of sauce, here is one that's wonderfully savory with omelet. Spoon it on before folding and serve it over the top, too!

Omelet with Savory Sauce

The Sauce:

2 tablespoons onion, chopped
1 tablespoon green pepper, chopped
1 tablespoon butter
1 can condensed tomato soup
1/2 cup mushrooms, cooked
Salt the chopped onion and green pepper in the butter until soft, but not brown. Then add the condensed tomato soup and the 1/2 cup cooked mushrooms.

The Omelet itself:

4 eggs
1/2 teaspoon salt
Pinch of pepper
2 tablespoons water

Death On The Highway

San Mateo county's traffic fatalities numbered 71 in 1939; in 1938—65; in 1937—76.

Of the 71 in 1939, 26 occurred on Bayshore highway (17 north of Broadway, Burlingame, 9 south of that point); 21 on El Camino Real (9 north of Broadway, Burlingame, and 12 south); 5 on Skyline boulevard; 4 on Coast roads; 6 on other roads and locations; 9 within city limits (locations, exclusive of El Camino and Bayshore). Three of the total were at grade crossings.

Fifty occurred after nightfall; 21 in the daylight.

November showed the greatest toll with 11, May next with 10; September and October were lowest with 2 each.

Of the tragic total, 26 were pedestrians (15 on El Camino, 8 on Bayshore). All pedestrians but two were killed after nightfall. As to ages of pedestrians killed, 15 were over 60, 11 under 60 years of age.

San Mateo County Traffic Safety Commission.

2 tablespoons butter

Beat the eggs until well mixed; then add seasonings and water and mix again. Melt the butter in a pan and place over a moderate flame. As the omelet cooks, lift the edges and tip the pan so that the uncooked egg flows under the cooked portion of the omelet. When bottom is browned, put three tablespoons of Savory Sauce in the omelet and fold over or roll. Serve omelet on a plate or platter and put more sauce over or around it. Serves 2-4.

Announce Plans For Dog Show

Plans for the thirty-first annual All Breeds Dog Show, which will bring to San Francisco more than a thousand crack thoroughbred dogs, were announced today by the Golden Gate Kennel club which, each year in January, stages the biggest canine exhibition in the west.

This year the show will take place Saturday and Sunday, January 27 and 28 in the San Francisco Civic auditorium. All three halls will be used to house the show.

Anticipating an attendance of some 25,000 people within the forty-eight hours of the show, officials of the Golden Gate Kennel club have made elaborate plans for the staging of the event.

DOROTHY LAMOUR PLAYS GIRL FROM ORIENT IN DRAMATIC PICTURE "DISPUTED PASSAGE"

It took Dorothy Lamour, eye-filling Paramount star, more than eighteen months in Hollywood to win recognition as a player who not only photographs well but as one who can also act. In "Disputed Passage," now showing at the Daly City theatre, in which she plays opposite Akim Tamiroff and John Howard, Miss Lamour has her first truly dramatic role.

Strangely enough, in "Disputed Passage" she at no time wears her much publicized sarong, but delivers a straightforward dramatic performance as an American girl orphaned in infancy and raised in a high-class Chinese family.

She has come to America on a mission for the sorely-pressed Chinese government. Here she meets Akim Tamiroff, world famous neurological surgeon and John Howard, his most promising student. Before many days have passed Howard and Miss Lamour know they are in love. Tamiroff intervenes and convinces the unhappy girl that the true scientist's only marriage must be to his work. The story thereafter takes the characters to the worn-torn Orient for the final climax of the plot.

Akim Tamiroff, as the eminent but vitriolic professor, and John Howard, portraying the self-willed young surgeon, completely capture the spirit of Lloyd C. Douglas' best-selling novel.

Companion feature on the new bill is "Day the Bookies Wept," starring Joe Penner and Betty Grable.

European Gold

In many European countries gold is so hoarded by the government that its use for dental fillings is prohibited. In Russia cavities are commonly filled by several kinds of metal alloys.

Chameleon's Colors

The chameleon does not arbitrarily imitate the hue of the object on which it rests, nor is the process wholly under its control. The changes are reactions to certain conditions of light and temperature and to various emotional states, such as fear and anger. The physical cause may be traced to two differently colored layers of pigment under control of the nervous system. The best known species is ordinarily a greenish-gray, from which it changes to emerald green or to dull black, sometimes showing reddish or yellowish spots.

Bible Facts

The Bible contains 66 books, of which 39 are in the Old Testament and 27 in the New. The Old Testament has 929 chapters, 33,214 verses, 553,493 words, and 2,728,100 letters. The New Testament has 26 chapters, 7,859 verses, 181,253 words, and 838,389 letters.

For the whole Bible, the total is 1,189 chapters, 41,173 verses, 774,746 words, and 3,566,489 letters.

Medical School Conference

The first all-India conference on improvement of medical school education was held in New Delhi.

Cottonmouth Moccasin
The cottonmouth moccasin is a dangerously poisonous snake generally of dark chestnut-brown with some darker barring and with yellowish-white stripes on the head and throat. The common name of this snake refers to the white lining of the mouth, which it is said to display before biting. Cottonmouths may attain a length of four feet. They are not aggressive and most cases of snake bite in which they are involved are due to the reptiles being stepped on.

Lake George Discovery

Lake George was discovered in 1646 by Father Isaac Jogues, known as the French ambassador of peace to the Indians. A statue of the priest and explorer has recently been unveiled on the shores of the lake.

Nickel Alloy

A recent industrial news letter reports that a new 98 per cent nickel alloy, which does not spark even under heavy use, has been developed for use in oil refineries.

Beginnings of Kindergarten

Maria Montessori, the Italian educator, studied at the University of Rome and graduated in medicine in 1894, being the first woman in Italy to do so. She then took up the subject of educating defective children. From the experience thus acquired, she came to the conclusion that similar methods might be applied to normal children of a lower age, and after a series of experiments on a small scale she extended them to a large number of children in private and public nursery schools in Rome. Her ideas on education have been set forth in several books which have been widely translated.

Military Buttons

One of the greatest collections of military buttons is owned by Robert S. Duncan of Toronto, Canada. He has 2,000 army buttons which have come from every section of the British empire and from 17 other countries. They are divided into 31 groups mounted on corrugated boards covered with paper.
